If a conventional vaccine can have genetic effects, the risk of mRNA vaccines having genetic effects is bound to be even greater

Two years ago, in October 2018, Forbes contributor Neil Sahota, a United Nations artificial intelligence adviser and UC Irvine professor, warned that transhumanism is fast approaching – likely faster than you think.¹

“In the past few years, there has been considerable discussion around the idea we are slowly merging with our technology, that we are becoming transhuman, with updated abilities, including enhanced intelligence, strength, and awareness,” Sahota writes.

The goal of the transhumanist movement, or “Human 2.0,” is to transcend biology into technology. Or, as Dr. Carrie Madej explains in the video above, to meld human biology with technology and artificial intelligence.

Two visible proponents of transhumanism are Ray Kurzweil (director of engineering at Google since 2012) and Elon Musk (founder of SpaceX, Tesla and Neuralink).

Standing at the Crossroads of Transhumanism

According to Madej, right now, today, we may be standing at the literal crossroads of transhumanism, thanks to the fast approaching release of one or more mRNA COVID-19 vaccines.

Many of the COVID-19 vaccines currently being fast-tracked are not conventional vaccines. Their design is aimed at manipulating your very biology, and therefore have the potential to alter the biology of the entire human race.

Conventional vaccines train your body to recognize and respond to the proteins of a particular virus by injecting a small amount of the actual viral protein into your body, thereby triggering an immune response and the development of antibodies.

This is not what happens with an mRNA vaccine. The theory behind these vaccines is that when you inject the mRNA into your cells, it will stimulate your cells to manufacture their own viral protein.² The mRNA COVID-19 vaccine will be the first of its kind. No mRNA vaccine has ever been licensed before. And, to add insult to injury, they're forgoing all animal safety testing.

Madej reviews some of the background of certain individuals participating in the race for a COVID-19 vaccine, which include Moderna co-founder Derrick Rossi, a Harvard researcher who successfully reprogrammed stem cells using modified RNA, thus changing the function of the stem cells. Moderna was founded on this concept of being able to modify human biological function through genetic engineering, Madej says.

Side Effects Should Be Expected

As mentioned, the mRNA vaccines are designed to instruct your cells to make the SARS-CoV-2 spike protein, the glycoprotein that attaches to the ACE2 receptor of the cell. This is the first stage of the two-stage process viruses use to gain entry into cells.

The idea is that by creating the SARS-CoV-2 spike protein, your immune system will mount a response to it and begin producing antibodies to the virus. However, as reported by The Vaccine Reaction, researchers have pointed out potential weaknesses:³

“According to researchers at University of Pennsylvania and Duke University, mRNA vaccines have potential safety issues, including local and systemic inflammation and stimulation of auto-reactive antibodies and autoimmunity, as well as development of edema (swelling) and blood clots.”⁴

Systemic inflammation, auto-reactive antibodies and autoimmune problems are not insignificant concerns. In fact, these are in large part why previous attempts to create a coronavirus vaccine have ALL failed.

Over the past 20 years, coronavirus vaccine research has been plagued by one consistent adverse outcome in particular, namely paradoxical immune enhancement. This is caused by the fact that coronaviruses produce two different types of antibodies – neutralizing antibodies⁵ that fight the infection, and binding antibodies⁶ (also known as nonneutralizing antibodies) that cannot prevent viral infection.

Incapable of preventing viral infection, binding antibodies can instead trigger paradoxical immune enhancement. What that means is that it looks good until you get the disease, and then it makes the disease far worse than it would have been otherwise. As detailed in my interview with Robert F. Kennedy Jr., in one coronavirus vaccine trial using ferrets, all the vaccinated animals died when exposed to the actual virus.

According to Madej, animal studies have also found the type of mRNA technology introduced with this vaccine can increase the risk of cancer and mutagenesis (gene mutations).

What You Need to Know About the Delivery System

Madej goes on to discuss how this mRNA vaccine is going to be administered. Rather than a conventional injection, the vaccine will be administered using a microneedle platform. Not only can it be mass produced quickly, but it can also be administered by anyone. It's as simple as attaching an adhesive bandage to your arm.

The adhesive side of the bandage has rows of tiny microneedles and a hydrogel base that contains luciferase enzyme and the vaccine itself. Because of their tiny size, the microneedles are said to be nearly painless when pressed into the skin.

The idea is that the microneedles will puncture the skin, delivering the modified synthetic RNA into the nucleus of your cells. RNA is essentially coding material that your body uses. In this case, as mentioned, the instructions are to produce the SARS-CoV-2 viral protein.

“ Synthetic genes can be patented. If inserting a synthetic RNA ends up creating permanent changes in the genome, humans will contain patentable genes. What will that mean for us, seeing how patents have owners, and owners have patent rights?”

The problem with all of this, Madej notes, is that they're using a process called transfection – a process used to create genetically modified organisms. She points out that research has confirmed GMO foods are not as healthy as conventional unmodified foods. The question is, might we also become less healthy?

“Vaccine manufacturers have stated that this will not alter our DNA, our genome,” Madej says. “I say that is not true. Because if we use this process to make a genetically modified organism, why would it not do the same thing to a human? I don't know why they're saying that.

If you look at the definition of transfection, it will tell you that it can be a temporary change in the cell. And I think that is what the vaccine manufacturers are banking on.

Or, it's a possibility for it to become stable, to be taken up into the genome, and to be so stable that it will start replicating when the genome replicates.

Meaning it is now a permanent part of your genome. That's a chance that we're taking. It could be temporary, or it could be permanent."

Patentable DNA, Luciferase and Nanotechnology

Naturally, we won't find out the truth about whether the vaccine causes a temporary or permanent change for many years after the experimental vaccine is introduced, and that's an important piece of information.

Why? Because synthetic genes can be patented. So, if inserting a synthetic RNA ends up creating permanent changes in the genome, humans will contain patentable genes. What will that mean for us, seeing how patents have owners, and owners have patent rights?

Another part of the delivery system that raises its own set of questions is the use of the enzyme luciferase, which has bioluminescent qualities. While invisible under normal conditions, using a cellphone app or special device, you will be able to see a glowing vaccination mark.

As described in the journal RSC Advances⁷ in 2015, luciferase gene-loaded quantum dots "can efficiently deliver genes into cells." The abstract discusses their use as "self-illuminating probes for hepatoma imaging," but the fact that quantum dots can deliver genetic material is interesting in itself.

The hydrogel, meanwhile, is a DARPA invention that involves nanotechnology and nanobots. This "bioelectronic interface" is part of how the vaccination mark will be able to connect to your smartphone, Madej says, providing information about blood sugar, heart rate and any number of other biological data.

"It has the potential to see almost anything that goes on in your body," Madej says.

This will have immediate ramifications for our privacy, yet no one has yet addressed where this information will be going. Who will collect and have access to all this data? Who will be responsible for protecting it? How will it be used?

Also, if your cellphone can receive information from your body, what information can your body receive from it, or other sources? Could transmissions affect our mood? Our behavior? Our physical function? Our thoughts or memories?

Stepping Into Transhumanist Territory

In his Forbes article,⁸ Sahota quotes Kurzweil's book "The Singularity Is Near: When Humans Transcend Biology," in which Kurzweil states:

"The Singularity will represent the culmination of the merger of our biological thinking and existence with our technology, resulting in a world that is still human but that transcends our biological roots."

If Madej turns out to be correct, and the mRNA vaccine ushers in the ability to alter not only our genes but also opens the door for nanotechnology-driven interfacing between our bodies and programmable technology, aren't we in fact stepping over the line into transhuman territory?

The Truthstream Media video above discusses the larger issues of transhumanism and the race to merge man with machine and artificial intelligence. There are even ongoing attempts to upload the human mind into the cloud, ultimately creating a form of "digital hive mind" where everyone communicates via "Wi-Fi telepathy." This, despite the fact we still do not fully understand what "the mind" actually is, or where it's located.

Neuralink – A Psychiatric Disaster in the Making?

Another transhumanist that has recently brought us to a brand-new precipice is Elon Musk, with his latest venture, Neuralink, described in the video presentation given in late August, above. Neuralink is a transcranial implant that uses direct current stimulation. For now, the device is aimed at helping people with brain or spinal injuries.

Ultimately, the goal is to merge the human brain with computers. I have strong reservations about this. There's tremendous room for unintended psychological and psychiatric consequences. In an interview that I did with psychiatrist Dr. Peter Breggin that has not yet been published, he discussed his concerns with this technology, saying:

"What's interesting to me is that while Musk is so brilliant, he's stupid about the brain. That's probably because the neurosurgeons and psychiatrists he consults are stupid about the brain. I mean they're just stupid.

He wants to put in multiple threadlike electrodes into the brain, into webs of neurons, and put in low voltage stimulation. This is insane. The brain can't tolerate this. He hopes to [be able to] communicate but there's not going to be any communication.

The brain isn't going to talk to these electrodes. That's not how the brain works. The brain talks to itself. It's not going to talk to Elon Musk [or anyone else] and he's going to disrupt the brain talking to itself. It's a terrible thing to do.

I wish somebody who knows Elon Musk would say, 'You ought to talk to Peter Breggin. He says your consultants are stupid.' He's already planning to try to get FDA approval for some neurological disorders and that'll be the beginning of the onslaught."

Is Transhumanism Inevitable?

Getting back to the mRNA vaccines, time will tell just how hazardous they end up being. Clearly, if the changes end up being permanent, the chance of long-term side effects is much greater than if they end up being temporary.

In a worst-case scenario, whatever changes occur could even be generational. The problem is these issues won't be readily apparent any time soon. In my view, this vaccine could easily turn into a global catastrophe the likes of which we've never experienced before.

We really should not be quick to dismiss the idea that these vaccines may cause permanent genetic changes, because we now have proof that even conventional vaccines have the ability to do that, and they don't involve the insertion of synthetic RNA.

Fast-Tracked Swine Flu Vaccine Caused Genetic Alterations

After the H1N1 swine flu of 2009, the AS03-adjuvanted swine flu vaccine Pandemrix (a fast-tracked vaccine used in Europe but not in the U.S. during 2009-2010) was causally linked⁹ to childhood narcolepsy, which abruptly skyrocketed in several countries.^{10,11}

Children and teens in Finland,¹² the U.K.¹³ and Sweden¹⁴ were among the hardest hit. Further analyses discerned a rise in narcolepsy among adults who received the vaccine as well, although the link wasn't as obvious as that in children and adolescents.¹⁵

A 2019 study¹⁶ reported finding a “novel association between Pandemrix-associated narcolepsy and the non-coding RNA gene GDNF-AS1” — a gene thought to regulate the production of glial cell line-derived neurotrophic factor or GDNF, a protein that plays an important role in neuronal survival.

They also confirmed a strong association between vaccine-induced narcolepsy and a certain haplotype, suggesting “variation in genes related to immunity and neuronal survival may interact to increase the susceptibility to Pandemrix-induced narcolepsy in certain individuals.”

In addition to that, there’s the research¹⁷ showing that the H1N1 swine flu vaccine was one of five inactivated vaccines that increased overall mortality, especially among girls. A swine flu article I wrote 11 years ago, in 2009, turned out to have a rather prophetic warning at the end:

“The swine flu vaccine has not been tested for safety or efficacy, but we DO know it will contain harmful additives. The choice, to me, is obvious. And in the future, anytime a new ‘pandemic’ appears and officials urge you to rush out and get a shot, please remember this article and ask yourself if it’s really you who stands to benefit from their advice.”

The Swine Flu Fraud of 1976

We can also learn from the swine flu fiasco of 1976, detailed in this 1979 “60 Minutes” episode. Fearing a repeat of the 1918 Spanish flu pandemic, “the government propaganda machine cranked into action,” “60 Minutes” says, telling all Americans to get vaccinated.

According to “60 Minutes,” 46 million Americans were vaccinated against the swine flu at that time. Over the next few years, thousands of Americans filed vaccine damage claims with the federal government.¹⁸ As reported by Smithsonian Magazine in 2017:¹⁹

“In the spring of 1976, it looked like that year’s flu was the real thing. Spoiler alert: it wasn’t, and rushed response led to a medical debacle that hasn’t gone away.

‘Some of the American public’s hesitance to embrace vaccines – the flu vaccine in particular – can be attributed to the long-lasting effects of a failed 1976 campaign to mass-vaccinate the public against a strain of the swine flu virus,’ writes Rebecca Kreston for Discover.

‘This government-led campaign was widely viewed as a debacle and put an irreparable dent in future public health initiative, as well as negatively influenced the public’s perception of both the flu and the flu shot in this country.’”

A 1981 report by the U.S. General Accounting Office to Sen. John Durkin, D-N.H., reads, in part:²⁰

“Before the swine flu program there were comparatively few vaccine-related claims made against the Government. Since 1963, Public Health Service records showed that only 27 non-swine flu claims were filed.

However, as of December 31, 1979, we found that 3,839 claims and 988 lawsuits had been filed against the Government alleging injury, death, or other damage resulting from the 45 million swine flu immunizations given under the program.

A Justice official told us that as of October 2, 1980, 3,965 claims and 1,384 lawsuits had been filed. Of the 3,965 claims filed, the Justice official said 316 claims had been settled for about $12.3 million ..."

The devastating side effects of the Pandemrix vaccine should be instructive. No one anticipated a flu vaccine to have genetic consequences, yet it did. Now they're proposing injecting mRNA to make every single cell in your body produce the SARS-CoV-2 spike protein.

It seems outright foolish not to assume there will be significant consequences. Perhaps even transhumanistic ones? The 1976 swine flu hoax is equally instructive, in that it demonstrates the long history of mass vaccination campaigns causing far more harm than good.

The greatest misconception about technology is that it improves us. Technology is a helper. There are many technologies that we have deemed essential for the miraculous assistance they can provide; that's fine, provided individual choice is preserved. Technology can improve circumstances and expand our function, but it doesn't literally make us more than we were before; when the technology is removed, our range of function reverts. A phone extends our communication range; remove the phone and we immediately lose that reach, unless we've developed some kind of telepathic ability; the latter would actually be an individual's improvement.

Technological aids make us, if not weaker, then certainly more dependent. Again, that's a choice... and sometimes a necessity. A person in need of a crutch or wheelchair regains some mobility, but not necessarily a restoration of previous function. Why make these distinctions? Because we now stand on the threshold of a much deeper integration of technology into our physiology, such as with Musk's Neuralink. Such schemes are invariably sold on the idea of helping people. But any society that can mandate the injection of a drug can also mandate that we get neurally wired up, both compelled on ideas of the “greater good.”

Whether or not humans actually use only a portion of their brains, few can seriously argue that mankind has reached any kind of full realization of potential, morally, intelligently, or otherwise. One idea is that we are more embryonic to what we can become, as many of the world’s traditional teachings seem to suggest. Artificial intelligence, even wired into our brains, will no more expand our innate intelligence than a phone confers innate telepathic powers. We might choose that dependency, but what if that choice shortchanges what we are meant to become? It would be more interesting to build up our “God-given muscles,” to see how far that actually goes, before rushing for the crutch.

Yes, DARZOOM, we are on the black side of technologies, the technocracies that lead to transhumanism. We are in a new world order, the creation of transhuman man, man with patented genes, just like transgenic seeds were patented, just like drugs are patented, communication technologies, all are patents for the domination and slavery of humanity . GMOs, allopathic medicines and now vaccines that modify DNA expressions will create a mentally or physically ill civilization, a humanity in decline, without rights or freedoms, subjected to being simple machines of a technocracy and techno-fascism, dominated by great fortunes. and the governments of the day subject to their whims.

The dehumanization of people is governed by extreme technological advances that hypnotize us, make us addicted and obscure our vision of reality. They engulf us in consumer adornments and drug our desires to obtain things and waste our time on entertainments that they manipulate in the unconsciousness of our minds.

Politicians in a large majority corrupt, allies of an extreme technological advance that observes us that directs us, who only look after the interests of power and profit and the support of the monopolies of great fortunes, are largely responsible for the dehumanization in which the world lives on all fronts of our existence. We are so infected by the virus of unconsciousness and passivity, and we must overcome it by being able to unite in a common front against tyranny, rulers, institutions and monopolies that only deserve to be despised by a true humanity. We are facing the creation of an unequal and antagonistic world that is devastating natural and cultural wealth, with the disappearance of diversity, the impoverishment of the poorest, and the dehumanization and globalization of surveillance and loss of freedoms.

In "The Power of Nightmares" politicians promise to achieve a better world, but now instead of sharing dreams, politicians promise to protect us from nightmares, from dangers, such as international terrorism. A cluster of fantasy to restore power, the rise of the politics of fear. Terrorism is also the politics of fear of COVID.19, because with fear the governments and the institutions of "health", the Pharmaceutical Mafia, want to gain power and money, start a war against democracy, install the fear of COVID-19, impose a new world order of loss of freedoms and economic inequalities, for the benefit of corrupt oligarchies. Why is there not a war against hunger in the world or a fight against the homeless, the loss of freedom, the defense of nature... ..?

The interest resides in a technocracy of domination and corruption that empowers the strongest, those who have promoted this false pandemic through the politics of fear. Video of "The Power of Nightmares" at the link. <https://youtu.be/dTg4qnyUGxg> A new world order cannot be created by nations without the support of the people, a democratic attitude is needed, away from the corporatocracy and techno-fascist currents, which needs to be grounded by a world ethic that is supported and lived by people of all ages. cultures based on human values.

The vaccine against the coronavirus SARS-CoV-2 from the University of Oxford and the pharmaceutical company AstraZeneca, has had to suspend trials worldwide because one of the participants in the United Kingdom has experienced a serious reaction. An anonymous source told the New York Times that the woman's symptoms were consistent with transverse myelitis (TM). "Concerns over associations between TM and vaccines are well known. A review of published case studies in 2009 documented 37 cases of transverse myelitis associated with vaccines, including Hepatitis B, measles-mumps-rubella, diphtheria, pertussis, tetanus and others in infants, children and adults. The researchers in Israel noted "the associations of different vaccines with a single autoimmune phenomenon allude to the idea that a common denominator of these vaccines, such as an adjuvant, might trigger this syndrome." Even the New York Times piece on the recent AstraZeneca trial pause notes past "speculation" that vaccines might be able to trigger TM". childrenshealthdefense.org/news/covid-19-vaccine-participant-develops-.. There are those who already falsely believe they are superior beings of Devine Right. Apparently their goal is to become Darth Vader's & Emperor Palpatine's. Those rest of us "allowed" to exist can serve as R2D2's and C3PO's. Actually, for the 98% more like Star Trek's Borg. Submit - Resistance is Futile.

Gui, you are so spot on today - humans will never "own, direct or control Creation or all the Seeds of Life."

Well worded Darzoum. Indeed technology is a usually double edged sword and society must learn to wield it with wisdom. Often wisdom is on the back-burner. Fortunately only 2 or 3 of the two dozen present vaccines under study are messenger RNA's and traditional are in the works.

Hi Guillermou, many great points. Regarding: "GMOs, allopathic medicines and now vaccines that modify DNA expressions will create a mentally or physically ill civilization..."; and just as true, we can say the opposite: A mentally or physically ill civilization will create GMOs, allopathic medicines and now vaccines that modify DNA expressions. The "dehumanization of people" has been progressing for... well, forever, instated and cultivated through propaganda from various institutions, circumscribing thinking and behavior into quasi-predictable consumer units. The technology is only catching up to finish the job. The ideal of the corporation or government is to be able to predict and standardize behavior, so as to make their jobs easier. Now they can control search results, mine data and put the same few brands of smartphones into everyone's pockets. What happens when everyone's brain gets wired with the same technology?

Hi juststeve, "we each have a deep well of Awareness these people actively short circuit and distract us from ever tapping into"; right on! And the distraction--and the desire to control/short-circuit--has been active for a very long time; the technocrat's technology is catching up to the technocrat's desire. Individuals desirous of freedom--not just the illusion of freedom--will have to reconnect and revivify older "technologies," repositories of Wisdom found "deep into the past never shared with the whole of humanity."

Hi hut... "Indeed technology is a usually double edged sword and society must learn to wield it with wisdom. Often wisdom is on the back-burner." I couldn't agree more with your assessment.

And what if that choice impairs the physical capabilities we already have, due in part to constant EMF exposure all throughout our bodies? And we think holding a cell phone to an ear or keeping it in one's chest pocket is bad. And so one if the subjects in the UK trials evidently has transverse myelitis, formerly known as poliomyelitis. Which vaccines probably cause more than anything else these days. How ironic, seeing as how "eradication of polio" is parroted by vaccine believers and propagandists as much as anything else.

I'm so thankful to have already lived most of my life before this period of time. People are all imperfect animals. Those who want to 'perfect' will wake up to an 'all dressed up with no where to go' reality. There won't be any more life has to offer. The best I can tell, those who can't find contentment with the simple blessings just complicate life. If some people with bright ideas are allowed to continue, the end result will be earth looking like bad plastic surgery with no way to fix it. Does anyone else get the feeling that what we are experiencing will go down in history as an unimaginable disaster?

Yes, Bluesss, a great disaster of a technology and industrialization that is destroying our planet, an unsustainable development that bewitches the minds of people with a false existence of consumerism and loss of ethical and moral values. The blind adherence of individuals to technology enables the deployment of absolute control over society, the final phase of which is usually the biological and / or mental manipulation of individuals to achieve a uniform and pacified society directed under the criteria of globalization and corporatocracy.

The world is dominated by a compulsive technology, a technocracy that enslaves the human mind, that does not lead to more human happiness. Despite the development of technology, people seem to work harder than before and their life has become more stressful and with great increase in diseases. Industrial pollution, drugs, GMOs and vaccines create unhappiness, because they make people sick and bewitch their minds. Primitive man hunted for food, now terrorism in all areas, led by a techno-fascism, imposes a dehumanization of man. We must empower the human mind, we must embrace ethical and moral values to fight against all the powers that want to enslave the human mind and body. If we ruin this planet we will ruin ourselves too. We have to think about a better future for ourselves and the next generations, and to reach that future, the human being should have somehow managed to live in harmony with the planet that has seen us born, and from which we can say that it is our true home forever.

Yes Bluesss, I feel exactly the same. The feeling of dread is appalling. The fact that they will be able to see if you've had this vaccine by detecting 'luciferase' at the injection site is even more worrying - do these people not even read, or are they being blatant? It reminds me of the sarcastic cries of the younger generation 'The clue is in the name, people!' - yikes!

Yes, I believe many do feel that way, but things are happening so fast now that there isn't even time for most people to think, no less respond or DO anything. I agree, i have seen the best life has to offer, and America. Sad but true and i too am grateful im on the older side of life at this point. I feel most sorry for those about late teens to early 40s even 50s who DO know better, but still have almost a lifetime of this to deal With. Very sad. The very young ones will grow up not even knowing any better. They won't even know what real freedom is. I suppose that's even worse. God bless the young parents right now.

The transhuman argument is fictitious. The idea is to "copy" your mind into an advanced neural network, then put that in a body that would last for a long period of time. This gives you a kind of immortality. The problem is that you are already immortal! And your mind IS NOT a neural network! Furthermore, your mind won't work without YOU. And you are a causative, non-material being. Sorry it you haven't heard this news, but that's the way it is. This whole campaign they are mounting depends on you being ignorant of the above truth. And while this does mean that you can die out of this craziness on Earth, it doesn't mean you can escape the craziness, as the death-birth cycle is carefully controlled. So we are stuck here and we need to get it right if we want a better Earth. mRNA is messenger RNA. It normally gets created in the cell nucleus and then is expelled into the cytoplasm where it is used as a pattern to build proteins. Proteins make up biological structures. That's all mechanics. It was invented by Spirit, but is now used to trap Spirit. The first step to disengage from this operation is to know that you are a spiritual being. In the short run, this knowledge may not serve to relieve your pain, but I hope it might increase your confidence that we can prevail.

larry_e, you make some good points. This whole thing is a con; they are trying to sell us a fake, defective & lesser version of what we already possess; much of that possession is in potential and I feel that as individuals, we must do the work to demonstrate both that potential and to show how wrong B.F. Skinner, Kurzweil et al. were. We cannot acquiesce to being treated as simple stimulus/response machines, so we must not act that way... that awakening is our birthright, one we must exercise.

Lucifer is at war with the Almighty. He is trying to destroy God's creation, including humans; that's what the vaccine/mark of beast is for. Why do you think the devil's name luciferase (Lucifer's race) is in the vaccine; the light. He wants to be the light that is in his GMO non-humans. He's always been jealous of God and Jesus. The true Christ follower will have the true light in oneself. The devil is trying to copycat God and Christ and even the light. How pathetic...his days are numbered and we are caught in the middle of it. It is worth losing your life to not be owned by the devil; for if you do, you will gain an eternal life with your creator. Don't take the mark. Look to Christ. 5G will interact with the vaccine.

How naive we were to think that world war was over in 1945. It will never be over because of the endless struggle between the forces of good and the forces of evil, because of the dual nature of mankind. Great writers such as Robert Louis Stevenson brought this to our attention with his stories of Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde. It's hard to accept and imagine that eugenists grew up in the normal way, did the things normal children do, played in with their tots, kicked a football around, sang in the school choir etc. We can analyse what epigenetic influences and early childhood experiences helped shape their personalities; strangely enough some would claim even their illnesses might be a clue to their true personalities as the late American healer, Louise Hay, wrote about way ahead of her time. But unless suffering from an extreme mental illness, it seems we all have a choice between good and evil at some point in our lives and the main players in the corona virus plandemic have chosen the latter.

I think we are on the verge of two definite realities right now. The road where we go to a technocratic trans-humanist tyranny or the road where 10 percent of the population wake up and we put a stop to it and have a world full of freedom and love and light. I have heard from different sources that we are on a good timeline right now but I say to remain vigilant and keep spreading the news and what the global

And that can cover countless aspects, from caring for the environment, professional development from a human potential, the sustainable technological boom, education among the smallest, future of humanity, gender and race equality, correcting the inequalities and fight against hunger, safeguard our freedoms, in short the most basic and fundamental of respect for humans and the planet.

MITCHIND...Yes, all aspects of the electrical nature of life and the universe itself are concealed; Root causes and effects confused...Otherwise thinking would be based on redox/acid-base/boy-girl relationships and molecular interaction and the unseen fields associated. Starting there one can also recognize the values of minerals, oxygen, food contents and lifestyle choices along with the negatory effects of heavy metals, sugars, oxidized fats and stress. Simple applications of antioxidant electrons and electron stealing/pathogen destroying oxidizers work and what works contains truth. These principles are unimpeachable basic science. Reflecting upon the findings and using the methods of the many doctors you link, one can only conclude they are true. The fact that our healthcare monopoly censors and forbids this information speaks to the protection of its business model. Sometimes their drug therapies work and save lives and rat traps are baited with real cheddar, but the price in dollars and side effects are dear. And knowing the reality of the mind body connection, how could any physician dedicated to healing create an atmosphere of panic and hysteria that is an exponentially greater threat than the virus??? I think we know the answer; power and control over the human race to remodel it in their sick-minded image.

"Another part of the delivery system that raises its own set of questions is the use of the enzyme luciferase, which has bioluminescent qualities. While invisible under normal conditions, using a cellphone app or special device, you will be able to see a glowing vaccination mark.". Vaccination "mark"; or "Mark of the Beast"? Did they pick the word luciferase out of a hat? I don't think so! Knowing that this "enzyme" is coming from a Defense Contractor...an entity that is continually thinking up new ways to harm/kill people - why would anyone trust them?

Patents and Intellectual Property Rights, is something I've been posting about for awhile; as well as Transhumanism and how it is stealthily creeping up on humanity! I have no doubt that at some point, the technocrats will OWN humanity, just as people own "pets"; although, I'm sure that the pets will be much better off than the people. Everything that's going on today, I have seen coming. I'm nobody special...I merely observe, pay attention and analyze everything that goes on around me. Yes RANDY, life itself is being patented. Innovation has a limit the right to continue living in accordance with natural conditions. The conditions that we have to feed ourselves or to be treated with a true medicine that serves to prevent and treat health. Biotechnological inventions have consistently ranked as one of the largest technical sectors in terms of the number of patents applied for. Patents block farmers' access to genetic material and minimize biodiversity and species diversity, thereby increasing dependency between farmers and seed producers.

Nature itself and the goods that it directly provides us are not patentable, although production processes can be designed, organized and put into operation based on them and subsequently commercialized with the benefits that their sale can provide. However, when these goods are not directly obtainable from nature or, even if they are, they require a specific handling or treatment that transforms them into more effective products such as medicines or food, or that serves to justifiably associate a new activity or a new one. utility, the products derived from these treatments may become patentable. This is the trap and the patent arises, it is about obtaining benefits from nature, the plant in its natural state is not recommended but the patent.

Hi Randy, yes, that name, luciferase, should raise some eyebrows. They want their stamp on us, and then, instead of a birth certificate, there will be a patent filed for each new person coming into the world. The article is interesting... I couldn't help thinking that the the level of anxiety of the women featured in the article represents some kind of ideal for the controllers. They need fear in the population, and they know how to create it before they manipulate people with it.

Does anyone believe that this is going to end well? I can see clearly, even through their masks, that people are becoming more terrified by this so-called "killer" virus, by the day - and they STILL fail to see how insane it all is! Hi, Darzoum; You know as well as I do that those lamestream articles are well thought out; and nothing changes...it's all about the fear mongering, brainwashing, conditioning and manipulation. I'm sure that those are prerequisites for employment. Good, honest people need not apply.

The more technology you have, the more people you need to support it and the greater likelihood that something will break down. It's one thing to do this with electronic controls in and automobile, but quite another with the human body. The human body should not be treated like used cars that have quit running. I am quite happy with in my ignorance with my humble life. I wonder what price tag they will put on my happiness? I am like a turtle. The more I see of abuse of technology, the more I want to dig in and hide in my shell. It seems we are living in a world without morals or common sense. Most people just want to be left alone. There are parallels in nature, even between the kingdoms. If you want to grow nice carrots, you nurture them by giving them fertile soil and feeding them good minerals. You do not go out to your garden, poke at them, and dig them up every once and a while to inspect them at a microscopic level. Some things are best left alone. Choose your technologies wisely.

Yes, we need protection and fight against the technocratic events that lead to a dehumanized world. Cleaner energy, access to new knowledge and research, less invasive surgeries, security systems, robotics for tedious and dangerous jobs, in short, means to improve the quality of life, are necessary, but they do not guarantee happiness and interior peace. Amid what appears to be a growing abundance of resources and continuous human progress, we are experiencing a mental health epidemic, with high rates of anxiety and depression.

But technology can sometimes make us feel worse instead of better. Social media can become a comparison tool and source of debilitating state anxiety. Increased access to goods and services, coupled with increased consumerism, can lead people to choose totally unnecessary and superfluous "things", becoming trapped in a hedonistic ribbon of materialism. Tools like artificial intelligence and big data can lead to a violation of our privacy and autonomy. The digital world can take us away from the beauty of the present moment. Moving away from true "happiness" to a general sense of well-being, gratitude, and inner peace.

The modern conception of happiness is viewed as a commodity, achieving goals that transcend the true human condition. Our ancestors had a better vision of that, an approach of diminishing the desires and expectations of believing themselves gods of the Universe, to achieve a harmony in the

Synthetic genes can be patented. If inserting a synthetic RNA ends up creating permanent changes in the genome, humans will contain patentable genes. What will that mean for us, seeing how patents have owners, and owners have patent rights? My research specialty is law. After reading just the first sentence without moving on, I had already surmised that the owners of the patent would then become the new owners of the bodies of those who take the Covid-19 vaccine. If you think that black slavery was repugnant, just imagine, once this particular vaccine is taken, the patent owners will have absolute power over everyone after just the first shot, for which by "contract law," no matter what one may suffer from the first shot, must take the second shot, and subsequent shots thereafter, or be in "breach of contract," which can carry a fine, and/or jail time.

And since the government is funding these vaccinations, it is at the very least "plausible" that the government has a vested interest in the ownership of the bodies who take the Covid-19 vaccine. There is also another problem cropping up that just adds fuel to the fire--the overall global economy has a looming change coming about, which will eliminate all current exchanges in money--a cashless society. This means many current governments can and probably will collapse to become vulnerable to be bailed out by the IMF, which is a world bank. In previous commentaries here, I mentioned a coming one-world government--the IMF is a quasi world government, because of it's a world-reaching money provider--all that is needed is a declaration of the one-world government, once the former governments are purchased. The population of the planet will be stunned that they are all of the sudden under a new tyrannical government. Once the patented vaccine is taken, you just entered into a contract, and then owned by the patent holders, whether it be Big Pharma or a one-world government-- a signature is used to validate a contract.

Posted On 09/12/2020

Once we are a patent of the big owners, we will not be allowed to use money, as we will just be slaves, having to work for the owners, just like the slaves did, many years ago, without any money due to us. Just serve, sleep in cages, wake up to serve again your owners, and work for the greater good, (a lot worst than Communism), and just feed yourself like animals or CAFO chicken from common containers. Oh, by the way CAFO chicken don't have to wear masks, however, we will have to wear them, even after the vaccines are injected, as they are not effective at all against viruses.

I've sat through all of these videos to be stunned by the lack of "diversity," our current mania. If there is no "diversity," how can we believe any of this? No one asked Elon the critical question - when will he subject himself to his invention just like Bill and Melinda should be asked when will they and their three kids be seen publicly injected with actual doses of vaccine? As for "saving and storing" memories, who is to say how accurate memories can be?

When I was a kid, we had the misfortune of living in Passaic, NJ, where transmission of television from Manhattan was tried out in a public park. I recall [a memory perhaps] my parents and I walked to this park where many were sitting on the lawn watching the broadcast on a large screen. We stayed around for a few minutes, then left. After that brief experience, my mother was death on television of which she never approved. A decade or more later the parents finally got a set. Unfortunately. My mother was inveigled into getting a TV set for her parents because her father loved baseball broadcasts. Her mother, my grandmother, said it was the worst thing which happened to their relationship because Gramps was glued to the tube instead of commenting on the game, as he often did, when it was on the radio. Those of you who've read Julia Child's memoirs may recall her astonishment and dismay at the enthusiastic reports about television, around the Passaic era, from her stateside acquaintances to the Childs who then resided in Norway. Obviously she later profited by the technology.

As Robert Kennedy pointed out the vaccine developments are not going well. The Astra Zenica vaccine was given to two monkeys and the result was the monkeys got COVID. Similar results with two ferrets. We should all know by now that the tests in Seattle went very poorly and basically all of the subjects became ill. Then there is the vaccine that is so unstable that it must be kept at temperatures from 40 to 80 below freezing and must be used very quickly because it has no shelf life. If they did work the other issue would be that a lab-created them and of course has a patent on them. If you are foolish enough to try any of the "vaccines" you will likely become their property due to the patent. My guess is they plan to use the vaccine to eliminate undesirables. Which would be people of color, gays, and anyone over say 55. Sayer Ji just posted about a private just for the wealthy meeting. You might want to check into that.

I don't even know if running away would help, as I heard that you will not be able to do transactions in the ATM machines, you will not be able to go into grocery stores, or in public places. So we will be deprived of our money, not being able to buy food, not being able to send kids to school, and so on. They just tried it on us, with the mandatory masks, they will do the same with the vaccines. Today, Sept 12, in Paris, people are in the street, to defend their rights against draconian measures with the masks, and anticipating the future measures to be implemented: A woman talks against being obedient, and keeping obedient? She also says: What about my kids, what would they tell me after a few years? that I could not protect them for their future, against what would happen to them? @3:19 www.youtube.com/watch Also @ 3:33 she says: "C'est pas Macron qui décide"

AT LEAST BRAVE GERMANS ATTEMPTED TO ASSASSINATE HITLER! Why isn't Soros, Gates, Fauchi & Co Culled? THE EUGENICS HOLOCAUST Did Psychopath Rockefeller Create The Spanish Flu Pandemic Of 1918? "The Truth About The 1918 'Viral Influenza' Pandemic" By Dr. Gary G. Kohls, MD Jun 18, 2020 It started with the Rockefeller Institute's Crude Bacterial Meningitis Vaccination Experiment on US Troops. The 1918-19 bacterial vaccine experiment may have killed 50-100 million people. "During the war years 1918-19, the US Army ballooned to 6,000,000 men, with 2,000,000 men being sent overseas. The Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research took advantage of this new pool of human guinea pigs to conduct vaccine experiments." "During WW1, the Rockefeller Institute also sent its experimental anti-meningococcal serum to England, France, Belgium, Italy and other countries, helping spread the epidemic worldwide." "The Rockefeller Institute and its experimental bacterial meningococcal vaccine, contrary to the accepted mythology may have killed 50-100 million people in 1918-1919."

We MUST avoid them. If a very large percentage of us, say 30%, or even 20% refuse, they will either have to quietly back down or enable a HUGE story which will out more of the truth they so desperately want to hide. Especially as hundreds of millions if not billions get sicker worldwide from the poisons in it and the EMF exposure. This will not end well for the technocrats, whichever way it goes. Such hubris, such foolishness.

At 74 I just don't believe they will make a ruckus. Life expectancy is 78... why create such bad vibes fighting older people? It would scare the kids. I'm 71 so I don't believe they'll be forcing us. I wonder if you've already had the virus if they won't force the vaccine on you, so everybody say they've already had it. I had it. It really wasn't that bad, just a lot of sneezing, coughing, spitting, and hair loss and pink eye.... and a high pitch squealing noise I can't get away from, but I've had much worse flu viruses.

God has created everything our body needs to be healthy naturally! Sickness comes and goes. Our immune system knows how to handle attacks on healthy cells. The toxins we inject daily i believe are a major reason for alot of sickness. If we are not vitamin and mineral deficient serious illness has no home in us! I am a believer in ph balancing of the body as well! Taking the proper measures we could live long healthy lives. Unfortunately our rulers/oppressors do all that they can to keep infomation like this alway from us. Cut, burn, prescribe is the treatment of the day. Profit over people is extremely evil! If you are a God fearing person and I am! You can only feel sorry for these people who ruled the world and inflicted so much damage on humanity. The Bible talks about theTRUE light. If there is a TRUE light, then there is a FALSE light! That false light is mentioned in the article as a component in the vaccine, LUCIFER! The FATHER of all lies! BEWARE!

Vitamin D, demand the rda rased, have you had enough. This is the data for massive lawsuits. pubmed.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/20352622 An estimate of the economic burden and premature deaths due to Vitamin D deficiency in Canada 2010: The estimated benefits in disease reduction were based on increasing the mean serum 25(OH)D level to 105 nmol/L. It is estimated that the death rate could fall by 37,000 deaths (22,300-52,300 deaths), representing 16.1% (9.7-22.7%) of annual deaths and the economic burden by 6.9% (3.8-10.0%) or $14.4 billion ($8.0 billion-$20.1 billion) less the cost of the program. It is recommended that Canadian health policy leaders consider measures to increase serum 25(OH)D levels for all Canadians. Wow and it was ignored

The Vitamin D test to see if your levels are sufficient used to be covered by the Ontario Health Insurance Plan and the coverage has been removed. If you want to test for Vitamin D it will cost you about $80 and that was an estimate a few years ago now. It's a favorite occupation of Canadians to criticize the American medical system. But we still have people who will go to the states for treatment because it isn't available here. Dealing with this Covid crisis, one option will be Class Action lawsuits. Rocco Galati, LL.B (Constitutional lawyer), in Toronto has filed a Statement of Claim that you can read in the following URL. Financial claim for damages is only against CBC (Canadian Broadcasting Corporation), but the list of alleged accused is interesting (it includes Prime Minister Justin Trudeau.)

You can find the Statement of Claim on this URL, under: "Press Release - Legal Challenge to COVID-19 Measures Filed in Ontario Superior Court." Once that opens, click on "Statement of Claim" and it will take you to the document which is extensive. There should be some activity on this in the court in Toronto, December 2020. Mr. Galati was also interviewed by Rebel Media. (The government in Canada is financially subsidizing main stream media and would like to shut down Rebel Media). vaccinechoicecanada.com This is the interview with Ezra Levant and Rocco Galati: www.rebelnews.com/rocco_galatis_lockdown_lawsuit_ezra_levant_interview.. We all know that Vit D and Vit C are essentials for a good health, however, they will be ineffective if you don't eliminate the cause of an exterior factor that keeps buzzing and affecting us. So, If you get the vaccine, and the luciferase stays in your body, No vitamins will help.

Right. Funny how so few seem to notice the smallpox vaccine came on the scene c. 1800, there were massive smallpox epidemics all throughout the 1800s, including a huge epidemic in 1872 in Europe and North America when the populations were most vaccinated, then went away just as all other infectious diseases sharply declined concurrently with public health improvements, while smallpox vaccination rates declined as well.

Poliomyelitis? Not even infectious, but from poisoning by pesticides and other toxic agents, including vaccines themselves! The vaccine has been a scam and a fraud, right from the git-go, eradicating a harmless enterovirus. The condition got renamed, and paralytic disease started to decline a couple years prior to introduction of the vaccine, as the pesticide benzene hexachloride (BHC) was withdrawn from agricultural use because (~~~drumroll~~~) it was found to impart a bad taste to food! Yup, the food was so toxic people could literally taste the poison!

"mRNA vaccines trick the body into producing the viral proteins itself." Humanity is doomed. Being so eager to destroy oneself is a sign insanity has reached exorbitant proportions, or it's all about achieving the final goal. If these "scientists" really believe that the virus is a threat to human kind why would they want the body ITSELF to produce foreign proteins to fight against? Which cells/how many cells/for how long are supposed to be "instructed" to produce the foreign protein? Will the immune system attack - the produced foreign proteins indefinitely (permanent insertion) = chronic inflammation, or - the cells that produce them = self-destruction? Will the immune system be faced with the dilemma of whether or not to destroy parts of or its own body? (assuming the virus is an existential threat) " Vaccines work by training the body to recognize and respond to the proteins produced by disease-causing organisms, such as a virus or bacteria" What's this about a virus being an organism?!? A shrewd creature whose purpose is to kill the host without which it can't replicate, or a host producing viruses to exterminate its own species? And If this virus is meant to ensure adaptation as doctors like Zach Bush explain, the Gee, given the alternative of permanent serious damage done to various body systems (i.e. body unable to sustain life normally), vs. the wacko "covid 19 vaccine possibility of turning you transhuman", my vote is for a well-tested vaccine. I'm so glad promoters of the "transhuman" did not have internet when the Salk vaccine was introduced. You could have been responsible for much more human agony while you lined your pockets.

"Sub-Nature Realm of Electricity – Lucifer in the Astral Body: A new realm of cold-light that creates illusion and selfish desires inspired by Lucifer in the astral body of the human being. Self-delusion leads to "non-thinking" that is simply an animal reflex instead of freely directed higher thinking. This type of selfish thinking is earth-bound, brain-bound, materialistic, and darkens the etheric realm. Animal – Astral realm of instincts, astral-intelligence. Sub-Nature Realm of Electromagnetism – Ahriman in the Etheric Body: A new realm of heartless, cold, clever willfulness that is devoid of feelings and led by Ahriman.

Through continuing the illusion of Lucifer's cold-light fantasies, Ahriman steals the warmth of the human heart through killing spiritual thinking and feeling. Plant – Etheric realm of the plants with the sun as the group-ego, etheric intelligence. Sub-Nature Realm of the "Third Force"- Asuras in the Physical Body: A new realm of binary, anti-time and anti-space beings who weave a spider-web of electro-magnetism that wishes to make the earth into a self-functioning electrical apparatus, an automated planet, a type of living mineral. This realm is populated by Asuras who are inspired by the Sun Demon Sorat who wishes to steal human ego-consciousness through consuming higher thinking, higher feeling, and higher human willpower. Mineral – Physical realm of apparent life-less substance.

The human being can ascend or descend, depending on whether they evolve or chose to remain behind the progressive evolution of humanity. This is a free choice that most people do not know they must make consciously. This choice is the key to whether a human will evolve into an angel or devolve into an animal (...) Humans can rise-up through the hierarchy in a normal fashion, or can devolve into sub-kingdoms where new beings are being created due to the human-machine interface and the battle for the human soul." neoanthroposophy.com/.../19
